

Chapter 25

Goods are things people make.

Services are things people do.

Producers, such as farmers, teachers and carpenters, are people and businesses that make or provide goods and services.

Consumers are people who use goods and services.

Chapter 26

Consumers depend on producers to make goods and provide services. Sometimes people trade goods and services.

Chapter 27

Agricultural products and mineral resources are goods.

Sugarcane, pecans, oil, salt, paper, and Tabasco sauce are important goods for Louisiana.

Tourism is an important service for Louisiana.

Chapter 28

Goods are shipped from local communities where they are produced to people across the state and the country.

The Gulf of Mexico and the Mississippi River are important waterways used to transport goods by ship.

Goods can also be transported by airplane, train and truck.
